BEN PARKER. OUR INTRODUCTION

A large to very large loose semi-double to loose peony seedling from Elegans, showing stamens, which are occasionally intermixed with center petals or petaloids. The outstanding feature of this exquisite camellia is that it has between the stamens and the regular petals a complete set of Calla Lily or Trumpet shaped flowers. These are set on solid red stems, the size of an ordinary match stem. There are from two to eight of these trumpet like flowers on each blossom. We have never seen another camellia formed like this one. Without a doubt it is one of the finest camellias to come on the market in recent years. Very lovely and extra choice. Limited supply.
